WOULD LOCATE CLERKS' HOME

Hotel Clerks Preparing to Establish Home for Aged Members of Association at Gettysburg. Have 10,000 Members.

This morning's Baltimore American says:

"There is a movement on foot to have a home for hotel clerks who have grown old and cannot support themselves," said B. Brent Sandige, a member of the National Board of the Greeters of America, at the Hotel Belvedere. The Greeters of America is the national society of hotel clerks and has about 10,000 members.

"The hotel clerks in Baltimore have been asked to assist in the matter. It is proposed to buy a piece of property near Gettysburg, and make it a national home for aged hotel clerks. The property will be bought through a Baltimore real estate dealer. Every clerk in the United States will be asked to interest himself in the matter."

Apparently little is known here concerning the above plans and the purchase of a "a property near Gettysburg" will afford room for speculation as to the exact location of the property under consideration. We have been unable to get definite information in the matter up to the time of going to press.

MEDALS FOR THE GETTYSBURG MEN

State Legislature will be Asked to Appropriate Money for Medals to Pennsylvanians who Fought here in 1863.

An effort will be made to amend the bill making an appropriation for the Gettysburg battle anniversary so that the appropriation will include a sum to provide medals for the Pennsylvania soldiers who fought in the big fight.

It is argued by the veterans that outside of the memorials erected on the field by the state there ought to be something for each veteran to hand down as a memorial that he fought here, and a medal would be the proper thing; not a costly medal, but something durable that can be kept in all the years to come, showing that the recipient was at the battle. Some of the old soldiers of the state are agitating the matter, and it is believed that with proper encouragement it could be carried through.

Several weeks ago a bill was introduced in the National House of Representatives providing a medal for every veteran who fought at Gettysburg, regardless of the state from which he came.

It was felt that there would be opposition to this on the ground that other bills providing for medals to be given the veterans of other battles would soon follow and the matter reach unlooked for proportions. Up to this time nothing has come of the measure.

Pennsylvania veterans, who learned of this bill and saw its difficulties, though approving of the spirit of the measure, are said to be responsible for the bill which it is now proposed to put before the lawmakers of the state and, if it is presented it is likely that vigorous steps will be taken to have it passed.

The plan is to have it go through with the appropriation for the battle anniversary celebration which the State has pledged itself to make during the present session of the legislature.

ANNUAL RUMOR

Pen Mar Dancing Floor to be Replaced. Same Old Story.

Extensive improvements at Pen Mar Park are to be made before the opening of the coming season.

A new dancing pavilion, "it is said," will be among the improvements. It is understood that the Western Maryland Railway Company, which owns the park, intends to remove the old pavilion and build a new one, three times the size of the present structure, on the opposite side of the main thoroughfare.

William Libby, who has charge of the attraction and amusement privileges, contemplates erecting an addition to the present building.

Jason Crout, of Baltimore, who succeeded his father, the late John Crout, as manager of the park restaurant, will come to Pen Mar shortly to supervise the renovation of the building.

F. J. Lubbenhusen, Baltimore, who with his family occupied the Washbaugh cottage last season, expects to build a cottage of his own. He has purchased a plot of ground on the High Rock road, near the entrance to the park, and has made preliminary arrangements for the erection of a handsome cottage.

STUCK TO POST

While driving his engine of the Western Maryland Railway express train leaving Hagerstown for Baltimore at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Engineer Luther D. Betts was taken desperately ill with appendicitis. Mr. Betts felt the attack coming shortly after leaving Hagerstown, but tried to stick to his post to the end of his run. When Highfield was reached, he was so ill that he had to be carried from his engine, and Dr. J. C. Beck, who was summoned, declared his case serious. He was removed to his home. It is not known if an operation will be necessary.

LENT BEGINS ON WEDNESDAY

Ash Wednesday will be Observed in Gettysburg with Usual Service in the Churches. Easter on Earliest Possible Date.

With the beginning of Lent tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, social affairs and many other forms of entertainment will be laid aside by those who observe the season in the manner approved by many churches. Frivolities will be a thing to be avoided for the forty day period and the usual regulations regarding the Lenten season will be observed.

There will be special services in St. Francis Xavier church and in Memorial Church of the Prince of Peace on Wednesday. At the former they will be held at eight o'clock in the morning and seven in the evening. The distribution of the ashes will take place at these two services and also at four o'clock in the afternoon. At the Episcopal church services will be held at 10.30 in the morning and 6.30 in the evening. In the other churches of the town there will be special reference to the observance of Ash Wednesday at the mid-week prayer meetings.

Gettysburg people together with those all over the civilized world observe to a greater or less degree the Lenten season. Entertainments planned for the winter months are held with relation to the beginning of Lent and the time of Easter and many of those scheduled for this winter have either been held or are being postponed until after Holy Week. One of these is a play to be given by the local lodge of Odd Fellows.

Easter this year comes on April 23, the earliest day on which it is possible for the festival to fall. It has been many years since it occurred on that date and will be almost a century before it again comes that early in the year.

While the religious observance of Ash Wednesday is general there are numerous superstitions held here with regard to the day. One of these, and perhaps the one most generally observed, is the custom of sprinkling growing things with ashes in the belief that their growth will be strengthened. This applies to flowers, plants, vegetables and other things and many people even sprinkle their hogs with ashes in the belief that they will get better results.

BANKRUPT SALE

H. L. Strayer Purchases Land and Improvements at Nachville.

Three tracts of land in Nashville, the property of Edgar M. Lau, including a store stand, creamery, grain and feed warehouse and the office of the Western Maryland railroad were sold at bankrupt sale on Saturday afternoon to Auctioneer H. L. Strayer, of York, formerly of Abbotstown, for $3,601. The three tracts adjoin one another and were sold together. There are also on the premises a steam engine for grinding feed and a railroad switch with a trestle coal yard.

Improvements on the three lots are a frame two and a half story dwelling house with a part slate and a part tin roof, containing a store room, shoe room and implement room; a three story brick building with a tin roof against the warehouse, part of which is used for a railroad office; a one-story frame building with slate roof on the east side; a one story brick engine house with slate roof and a one story frame ice house. Several of these buildings are heated by steam from the engine house.

MEASLES ELSEWHERE

Gettysburg Has Plenty of Company when it Comes to Measles.

Outbreaks of measles in many counties of the state are giving State Health Department officials considerable concern, as it is feared that there will be a repetition of the outbreak of a few years ago. Almost every large center of population has reported a number of cases. Gettysburg has done its share with over two hundred cases to date.

TO ADD FRANKLIN TO THIS DISTRICT

New Apportionment will Likely Add Another County to this Congressional District. Too Small for Only Two Counties.

York and Adams counties would no longer constitute the twentieth congressional district of the state should the plan for the new apportionment of the state just completed by the senate congressional reapportionment committee be adopted, Franklin would be added.

Under the former basis of representation in congress York and Adams counties had not quite sufficient population to make them a congressional district, but for the purpose of making the district map of the state they were thus joined. The numerical basis was 196,941, and York and Adams had a population of only about 160,000. Now the basis of representation has been raised by the new census, giving the state four new congressmen, 36 in all, and the required population for the formation of a district is placed 212,919 population.

That would make the two counties now composing our district too far short of the required number, the census giving the population of the two at 170,724, of which but 34,319 are credited to Adams county. Thus it was necessary to add a county, and Franklin, with 59,775 population, is joined to our district giving it a total population of 226,594, a slight excess of the number of persons required to inhabit a district.

The plan is likely to be adopted by the legislature. It is the result of careful study—tiresome, tedious work, in fact, and by experts.

That the state was not reapportioned before is the reason for four congressmen-at-large in the state, under the new census. There will be no congressmen-at-large next election.

The apportionment for legislative districts has been prepared and the unit for one member, according to the census of 1910, has been found to be 38,325. Of course each county is given one member whether it has the population of 38,325 or not. In order to secure two members a county must have over one and a half times, or 57,487 of a population. Franklin county retains its two members because its population, in 1910, was 59,775, or 2286 more than one and a half units. Cumberland county will drop to but one member for the next ten years because the population was but 54,479 in 1910 or 3009 less than enough to make one and a half units.

ICE SHORTAGE

Local People Practically Give up Hope of Ice Crop.

What promises to be an ice shortage if not famine for those local people who depend upon natural ice is now staring them in the face. Not for 20 years has such a condition been known as now. Farmers and others throughout the county, who have their own ice houses, and who had in other years filled them with ice taken from ponds have not gathered a bit of ice this winter.

Ice men point out that there are several things casting gloom upon the prospect for a crop in the remainder of the present winter. The greatest handicap is the fullness of all the streams, due to the continued rains. The high water flows too rapidly to freeze easily and it would require a greater length of time for it to chill to the freezing degree. Again the ground contains no frost but, instead, enough natural heat to repulse any fitful cold spell. The sun also is daily increasing in height and warmth, a circumstance anything but favorable. Two solid weeks of weather below the freezing point would be required to produce an ice crop now. Of last year's crop very little remains in the ice houses.

ALLIES ATTACK ADRIANOPLE

Bombardment Begins With Expiration of Armistice.

SKIRMISH AT TCHATALJA

King Nicholas Goes to Front to Take Command of Attack Against Ccutari—Greeks Are Active.

Constantinople, Feb. 4.—It is officially announced here that hostilities have begun, both at Adrianople and at Tchatalja. At Adrianople the allies opened the bombardment. At Tchatalja an insignificant skirmish occurred. The immediate object of the allies of the allies is the capture of Adrianople, which hitherto has presented such a firm front to its besiegers. Upon this fortress the combined Bulgarian and Servian armies, the latter well supplied with siege artillery, will concentrate their exertions.

The consuls at Adrianople have requested the ambassadors to arrange with the Bulgarian authorities for permission for 120 foreigners at Adrianople to pass through the Bulgarian lines. If this arrangement cannot be made, the ambassadors will ask that the Bulgarians respect that portion of Adrianople set apart for foreign residence.

For the present at any rate the Bulgarian generals will simply try to hold the Turkish troops at Tchatalja. King Nicholas, of Montenegro, already has started again for the Turkish fortress of Scutari. The king himself will take the direction of the renewed attack. He hopes by capturing the city and thus establishing an accomplished fact, to obtain a better chance of keeping definite possession of it when peace finally comes.

In the western Turkish province of Epirus, which touches the Grecian border, the Greek troops under the command of Crown Prince Constantine have great hopes of breaking down the splendid defense which the Turkish army has thus far offered.

The Servian allies alone of the Balkan allies have completed their campaign and have placed many of their troops at the disposal of their comrades in the field. Some, however, must be kept in Albania, where a rising against the invaders has been organized.

It is declared that the Albanians, with 80,000 rifles, under the command of Austrian officers, are taking the field, and it is rumored that they have fought a battle at Dibra, where the Servians lost heavily.

The Albanians are said to be greatly irritated by the wholesale arrests of those suspected of being interested in provisional government.

The Turkish government, like that of Bulgaria, will not allow newspaper correspondents to accompany their armies in the field. Mahmoud Shekief Pasha, the grand vizier, stated emphatically that he would not allow any correspondents within twenty miles of the lines.

In the meanwhile Turkey has not been neglecting precautions for all eventualities. The movements of the troops and war stores have been incessant during the last week, while the hospitals at the front have all been cleared and their patients taken to the infirmaries in Constantinople.

WILSON NAMES SECRETARY

President-Elect Will Retain Joseph P. Tumulty For Post.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—Joseph P. Tumulty, at present private secretary to Governor Wilson, will be secretary to the president after March 4, according to an announcement made by President-elect Wilson.

This is the first announcement by Mr. Wilson of any of the many appointments that will be at his command after March 4.

The president-elect offered Tumulty the secretaryship a week ago and he accepted. He has been associated with Wilson since the gubernatorial campaign three years ago.

WOMEN PLAN EXCITING WAR

London Suffragists Will Resort to Any Method to Oust Cabinet.

London, Feb. 4.—The suffragettes are planning "an exciting civil war" in London, according to an announcement by Mrs. Pankhurst.

"The militant suffragettes," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "are preparing all sorts of effective strikes. The government must quickly give us the vote or we will use every method constitutional, as well as unconstitutional, to turn the cabinet out."

Detectives in great numbers are on the watch in the London streets, but the suffragettes continue successful raids. The contents of thirty letter boxes were destroyed.

LYNCHING PROBE AGAIN IS URGED

Coatesville Committee Sees State Officers.

Coatesville, Pa., Feb. 4.—Although no information has been given out, it is said that what has been named as "the vengeance committee" by Recorder of Deeds James D. Scott, went to Harrisburg to hold a conference with Deputy Attorney General J. E. B. Cunningham, John C. Groome, commander of the state constabulary, and others, looking toward a further investigation into the lynching of Zack Walker, colored, on Aug. 13, 1911.

It is also said that a committee from New York, representing the Society for the Advancement of the Colored Race in America, is to confer with the Coatesville committee, of which H. I. Haines is named as the secretary.

The business men of the town generally condemn any action likely to continue to hold Coatesville's name before the public in connection with the lynching, which took place not in Coatesville, but in East Fallowfield township.

The murder of Police Chief Edgar Rice also took place in this same township, and the hospital from which the murderer was dragged to his doom is in Valley township. Not a single man on any of the juries which brought in acquittals in the lynching cases came from Coatesville.

Leading citizens of the town feel that the state did everything in its power to bring to justice the perpetrators of the lynching, and that as every case tried resulted in an acquittal further investigation is likely only to further blacken Coatesville and will accomplish no good purpose.

ACCUSES POLICE OFFICIALS

Indictments Expected on Testimony of Cully Man.

New York, Feb. 4.—The confession of a patrolman gave the district attorney the long sought instrument by which he expects to uncover corruption in the New York police department.

The investigation of the alleged graft among the police was aided by Patrolman Eugene F. Fox, who was indicted for taking protection money from a Rain's law hotel.

After he pleaded guilty it was said that he gave the district attorney facts that may lead to the indictment of two important members of the police department.

Fox will testify before the extraordinary grand jury next Monday.

TAX ON INCOMES NOW ASSURED

Thirty-seven Legislatures Ratify Amendment.

WYOMING AND DELAWARE ACT

The Bill is Already Under Consideration and Probably Will Be Enacted at Extra Session.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Wyoming and Delaware rushed to the fore and made the provision for levying an income tax part of the constitution of the United States by ratifying the amendment submitted to the states by congress.

Thirty-five states previously had taken similar action. As to whether Delaware or Wyoming will be accorded the honor of being the state completing the three-fourths necessary to make the amendment part of the constitution probably will depend upon a technical question of time. News of Wyoming's action was the first to reach Washington.

The action in Wyoming was taken in both houses of the legislature under a suspension of the rules. Thus New Jersey and New Mexico, both of which were expected to ratify the amendment, were beaten out in the race to be the state to decide the question that has been agitated in various forms for many years.

This is the sixteenth change in the constitution and the first since the reconstruction days following the Civil War.

Congress now will enact a law to levy the tax, and it probably will be come effective in the extraordinary session to be called by President-elect Wilson in March. The tax itself, its provisions and its limitations are all left to congress.

The new law probably will supersede the corporation tax and provide for a tax on all incomes above $5000, although there has been some sentiment in favor of making the limit as low as $4000. Congressional leaders who have been preparing for the final ratification by the states estimate an income tax would bring in about $100,000,000 a year.

Now that the tax is permitted by the constitution, the proposed excise tax, framed by the Democratic leaders in 1912 to meet the supreme court's decision, which held a former income tax law unconstitutional, will be dropped, and some of its provisions may be included in the new law.

As there are forty-eight states in the Union, ratification of thirty-six, or three-fourths of the whole number, acting through their legislatures, is necessary to change the constitution. The thirty-five states acting before Wyoming and Delaware were: Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Four states—Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Utah—rejected the amendment.

The sixteen amendments, as it will be known, reads as follows:

"Article XVI.—The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

This change in the fundamental law marks a new epoch in the American tax system. All previous efforts for a tax of this kind have been without explicit authority of a constitutional provision. The change also marks a broad development of the economic and fiscal system of the United States, permitting incomes to be a basis for taxation similar to the systems now in force in Great Britain, Austria, Switzerland, Spain and various other countries.

Increased Aviation Pay.

STRIKE PICKETS ASK FOR THEIR OLD JOBS

The Break Comes When Mills Resume Work.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 4.—The first break in the ranks of the striking ironworkers at the Rankin plant of the American Steel and Wire company occurred when about 200 of the 1500 or more men out returned to their places.

The mills were picketed, but the presence of twenty-three deputy sheriffs prevented disorder. The unexpected action of the men prompted Sheriff Jedd Bruff to take extraordinary precautions.

As the day advanced other men joined the workers in the mill, including some of the pickets, who, when they realized that their arguments had no effect on their fellows, applied at the mill office for their old jobs. Work was resumed also at the Braddock plant, where it was estimated fully 500 of the strikers had taken up their work.

A committee of strikers, sent to Donora, Pa., to call out the men in the steel mills there, returned to Pittsburgh with the report that while they had made some progress looking to organization, they had been unable to inaugurate a strike.

U. S. LOSES SHOE MACHINE CASE

First Big Defeat in the Anti-Trust Campaign.

PLAN NEW PROSECUTIONS

The Supreme Court Decides Officials of Company Did Not Violate Law by Organizing.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The government suffered its first big defeat in the recent anti-trust campaign when the supreme court held that the officials of the United Shoe Machinery company had not violated the Sherman anti-trust law by organizing the company.

The court, however, did not pass on the legality of the system by which the company leases machines on terms that no "independent" machinery can be used.

The government will prosecute officials of the company under a remaining indictment, it was announced at the department of justice. That indictment charges monopoly and unfair competitive methods and is declared by officials to be the most important and strongest of the indictments returned against the company.

The decision grew out of the Massachusetts federal court's annulling of two indictments brought against the shoe machinery company officials. The Massachusetts court took the position that the indictment did not state an offense under the Sherman law.

The government appealed to the supreme court by virtue of the criminal appeals act of 1907, on the ground that it did state an offense.

The government in the indictment alleged that Sidney W. Winslow, Edward P. Hurd, George W. Brown, William Barbour and Elmer P. Howe, violated the law, first by organizing the United Shoe Machinery corporation, and second by a system of leasing their machines, whereby patrons were compelled to promise not to use any machinery made by independents and to use only that made by the alleged combine.

The charge was that the shoe machinery corporation took over the business of the Consolidated and McKay Lasting Machine company, manufacturing 60 per cent of all lasting machines; the McKay Shoe Machinery company, manufacturing 70 per cent of all heeling machines and 80 per cent of all metallic fastening machines, and of the Goodyear Shoe Machinery company, manufacturing 80 per cent of all the well-sewing and out-stitching machines.

The government contended that this put about 80 per cent of the business of manufacturing shoe machinery into one concern, and that this being an "undue proportion" of the trade was a violation of the law. It did not claim that there had been unfair competition, as in the Standard Oil or tobacco cases.

Justice Holmes, announcing the unanimous decision of the court, said that the lower court regarded the indictment as merely referring to the organization of the company, not to the "tying clauses" leases. That being the case, he added, the supreme court must accept that interpretation without question.

He said this reduced the case to a narrow compass, and pointed out that the several groups combined in the organization of the United Shoe Machinery company were non-competitive.

The justice declared that the Sherman law did not contemplate the doing of business by the smallest possible isolated units. Two indictments were brought against the shoe machinery officials. The decision concerned only one of these indictments.

KING MENELIK DEAD AGAIN

Demise of Abyssinia's Ruler Reported But Lacks Confirmation.

London, Feb. 4.—King Menelik, of Abyssinia, is dead, according to a dispatch received in this city from Addis Ababa.

His successor, Prince Lidj Jeassu, one of his grandsons, entered the capital with great pomp, the dispatch also adds.

No official confirmation has been received in London of King Menelik's death. On several previous occasions he was reported dead.

Prince Lidj Jeassu is seventeen years old. He was selected some years ago by Menelik to be his successor. He is a youth of great intelligence, a son of Ras Michael, a powerful prince, and governor of three Abyssinian provinces, whose wife was Menelik's daughter.

There have been many rumors of King Menelik's death in the past five years.

Favor High Licensed Clubs.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 4.—The Reading Ministerial Union, representing more than sixty churches in the city, at a session held here, declared in favor of a high license for social clubs.

The union urged the legislature to prohibit the sale of liquor by clubs on Sunday and election day and to restrict the hours to those now observed by hotel men.

GAYNOR'S ASSAILANT DEAD

James Gallagher, Who Shot New York Mayor, Victim of Paresia.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—James J. Gallagher, the man who shot Mayor Gaynor, of New York, nearly two years ago at Hoboken, N. J., died at the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane in Trenton. Death was due to paresia.

Gallagher had been at the hospital since Jan. 18, 1912, having been transferred from the New Jersey state prison, where he had been sentenced to serve twelve years on a charge of assault upon William Edwards, street commissioner of New York, who was with Mayor Gaynor at the time of the shooting.

Gallagher was never prosecuted for shooting the mayor. This was at Mayor Gaynor's request. Gallagher's act was prompted by disappointment on having been discharged from a municipal position in New York city.

WILSON TRUST BILLS PLACED UNDER FIRE

Corporation Attorneys Fear the Drastic Provisions.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—Not more than thirty persons were present in the senate chamber when the senate committee on judiciary began its hearing on Governor Wilson's "Seven Sisters"—the anti-trust bills introduced by Senator Davis, the Democratic leader, and chairman of the judiciary committee, at the behest of the president elect.

Announcement was made that advocates of the bills would have thirty minutes and opponents an hour and a half to present their views. No one arose to speak for the bills, although several were present who favor their passage.

When the opposition was called for, former Judge William I. Lewis, counsel for the Tidewater Oil company, said he did not appear in opposition to the bills as a whole, but rather to suggest what he considered desirable changes.

The same attitude was taken by Richard V. Lindabury, New Jersey counsel for the United States Steel corporation, and also counsel for other large corporations having New Jersey charters.

Lewis thought the bills would prohibit a manufacturer from selling his entire output to a single customer. This he thought should be changed. He also thought that, while the bill prohibited the receiving of evidence of indebtedness from competing companies, they compelled the selling of goods to competing companies, thus forcing cash transactions.

Lindabury thought Lewis put too strict an interpretation upon the "price bill," which he believed should be construed reasonably to carry its express purpose of preventing monopoly.

He thought the bill holding directors of corporations responsible for violations should be modified to hold them responsible only where they were knowingly or wilfully guilty of the act prohibited.

CABINET MEMBERS ACCUSED

Attorneys For Uncle Sam Oil Company Rap Wickersham and Fisher.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Attorney General Wickersham is accused for his action in holding up the Texas indictments against John D. Archbald and other Standard Oil officials, and Secretary of the Interior Fisher is again charged with "subserviency to the oil trust" in a brief filed with the house Indian affairs committee.

The brief was filed by attorneys for the Uncle Sam Oil company in the Osage lands controversy.

The committee's report on its investigation of the charges against Fisher growing out of the secretary's dismissal of the Osage councillors, will not be made to this congress.

Jack Johnson Must Stand Trial.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The supreme court of the United States refused the writ of error in the case of Jack Johnson against United States Marshal Hay, involving his arrest for violation of the white slave act. Johnson must therefore stand trial in the lower court before his case can be reviewed by the supreme court.

His recommendations will be submitted to the Intercollegiate rules committee.

An unruly class in a public school reformed on a promise by the teacher to let them give a negro minstrel show in the school at the end of the term, and when the performance came off it was a howling success.

One little temporary dandy, rubbing his arm, finally attracted the attention of the interlocutor.

"Why, Mistah Jones," he exclaimed, "what's de matter wif yo' arm?"

"Why, Mistah Bones, Ah wuz out in de Hudson river yestaday fo' shad, an' Ah got mah arm lame rowin' aginst de tide."

"Well, well," returned the young Mr. Bones; "Ah nevah saw such foolishness! Why didn't yo' let de shad row?" —New York Herald.

 Arendtsville, Pa.

Householders as well as janitors of public buildings, and what is said refers to the former even more than the latter, would confer a great service to those who gather as their guests if they would take pains to see that their houses are not overheated on such occasions. This "stoking up" of furnace or stove is without doubt done with the best of intentions, but it is at great risk to one's guests, who are vastly more in danger of colds or pneumonia as a result of overheating than they are because of low temperature which may prevail at the time of their arrival. The temperature should not register above 70 degrees F., and if it is 35 degrees there is far less danger than if it is 75 or 80 degrees, as is too often the case.

The small birds that spend their winters in the northern portions of the United States should receive the encouragement of a little grain scattered for them, and some pieces of suet or other meat scraps should be put out where the snow will not cover them. A good deal of pleasure during the winter months may be got by watching the birds during their regular visits to these feeding places.

A long summer and overcharged public is now getting considerable chunks of satisfaction out of the fact that the express companies of the country have got some competition in the shape of the parcel post and will henceforth have to come across with cheaper rates and more prompt service if they expect to hold their own in the package carrying business.
